JUDGE JEFF HANNAH GOES TO APPELLATE BENCH.

Gov. McCreary Tuesday accepted the resignation of Circuit Judge Jeff Hannah, of Sandy Hook, and appointed him to the Appellate bench from the Sixth district to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Judge John M. Lassing, of Newport.

The vacancy created in the Third-second Judicial District by the promotion of Judge Hannah will be filled by the appointment of Judge M. M. Redwine, of Sandy Hook.

Judge Hannah was attorney for Elliott county one term. He served a term in the Senate from the Third-second District, and has been on the bench six years, having been nominated by both parties at his last election. He is appointed because of his legal ability.

He is a brother-in-law of Rufus Vansant, Chairman of the Democratic State Central and State Executive Committees.

Judge Redwine was appointed the first Judge of the Third-second District, and was defeated by Judge Hannah.

Gov. McCreary has not received the resignation of Judge Allie Young, of Mt. Sterling.

BRYAN PEACE PLAN GETS GREAT DEAL OF NOTICE

Secretary Bryan's peace plan for the settlement of international difficulties through the force of sober second thought and the good offices of an impartial commission, was received with acclaim at the recent meeting of the Interparliamentary Union at the Hague, according to Senator Burton, one of the American delegates, who has returned home.

"The Bryan plan," said the Senator, was received better than almost anything that was talked over. The only objection to the proposal seemed to be that during the period provided for an investigation of grievances by a commission the countries involved shall make no additions to their war equipment. Several nations did not seem to like that provision, but it is not a vital part of the plan.

The Bryan plan was only talked about at the Hague. Its adoption depends upon the countries of the world invited to enter into it by the Secretary.

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF.

Girls, Try It! Your Hair Gets Soft, Fluffy and Luxuriant at Once.

If you care for heavy hair, that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff; you cannot have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its luster, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast.

If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily, get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter; apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.

We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised, that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must use Knowlton's Danderine. If eventually—why not now?

DEATHS.

ASHURST.

—Mr. George R. Ashurst, one of the most highly esteemed citizens of Paris, died Monday night at 11 o'clock at his home on Pleasant street, after an illness of less than twenty-four hours, due to uraemic poison and heart failure caused by Bright's disease.

Mr. Ashurst suffered from a severe attack of the same kind a little over a year ago, and for weeks his life was despaired of, and though he had not regained his full vigor he was able to be out every day, and was in his accustomed place at the Christian church Sunday evening. The family had no warning of his approaching illness and was in his usual health at 11 o'clock Sunday night, but was found unconscious about two hours later.

Had Mr. Ashurst lived until November 17 he would have been 71 years old. He formerly lived on a farm on the Clintonville pike, but moved to Paris about fifteen years ago. He was the son of the late John K. Ashurst, a prominent citizen of Bourbon county.

He is survived by five devoted children, Mrs. James H. Montgomery, of Fruitvale, Cal.; Misses Susie and Stella Ashurst and Messrs. John and Clarence Ashurst, all of Paris. A sister, Miss Anna Ashurst, of Lexington, and two half-sisters, Mrs. Willie Aker, of Lexington, and Mrs. Washington Redmon, of Bourbon, also survive. Mr. Ashurst was a cousin of Mr. Lloyd Ashurst, a prominent citizen of Paris.

The funeral services were conducted at the family residence on Pleasant street, Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock by Rev. W. E. Ellis and Rev. J. T. Sharrad. Burial in the Paris cemetery.

The following nephews were active pall-bearers: Sol Redmon, Jason Redmon, Harry O. James, Joe Redmon, John Willie Aker and T. J. Redmon.

The honorary pall-bearers were: J. T. Hinton, W. H. H. Johnson, Lloyd Ashurst, Geo. W. Redmon, H. C. Hutchcraft, E. B. January, William Hukill, Sr., J. H. Haggard, J. W. Thomas, J. Will Young and William S. Jones.

JOPLIN.

—A message received by Dr. W. T. Brooks Tuesday, told of the death of his wife's father, Mr. James L. Joplin, which occurred at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Charles Spillman, in Harrodsburg, at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Mr. Joplin had reached the ripe old age of 83 years last June, and had been in declining health for several months. His death was not unexpected and his daughter, Mrs. Brooks, had been at his bedside for a week. Mr. Joplin had spent some time with his daughter in this city at intervals and had many friends here, who loved him for his many graces of Christian character. He was a devout member of the Christian church and was a kindly, courteous, gracious gentleman.

"LITTLE WOMEN" COMING

"Little Women," the dramatization of Louisa M. Alcott's much-loved story, will be presented at the Paris Grand Opera House Wednesday, Oct. 8, as the first of the high-class plays to be seen here this season. This is "Little Women's" first season on the road and William A. Brady is sending the same company that will play engagements in the principal cities of the South.

The fact that the play bears the Brady trademark is sufficient guarantee of its merit and it is predicted that the capacity of the opera house will be taxed by the people of Paris and vicinity who appreciate the best in the drama of today. "Little Women" is a sort of an oddity in that it is a sweet story of yesterday done into a charming play of today. Meg, Jo, Beth, Amy and the other characters of the book that has enthralled three generations will be seen in the flesh and blood amid surroundings of grandeur that would have been impossible in the time of Miss Alcott. It therefore satisfies the demand of the readers of all ages who have enjoyed the book, and at the same time comes well up to the requirements of exacting dramatic critics.

After its presentation at the Playhouse in New York last season "Little Women" attracted phenomenal business and Mr. Brady was compelled to keep it in the metropolis for the whole season. The production that he is sending here is identical with the one staged at the Playhouse, and will be one of the most sumptuous that the stage of the Grand Opera House has ever held.

NICOTINE REACHING MOUTH

For many years Dr. Parant, of Lono-le-Sauvier, has been working on the fascinating problem of how to enjoy the delights of a good smoke without all the ill effects hitherto considered inevitable. Some two years ago he invented pipes and cigar or cigarette holders in which the smoke was obliged to traverse surfaces of considerable extent before reaching the mouth of the smoker, thereby losing perforce a large part of its toxic elements by condensation. This device, used unfailingly and regularly cleaned with care, greatly diminishes the amount of nicotine and other deleterious elements which can reach the mouth.

Now, according to the Journal des Debats, Dr. Parant has gone a step further in first aid to the smoker. His new method consists of the utilization of the catalytic properties of certain elements, especially aluminum. The tobacco is moistened with an aluminum solution, is allowed to dry and is then smoked.

What happens? Parant's theory is that, thanks to the elevation of temperature, the aluminum which has remained fixed upon the tobacco after the evaporation, forms with the nicotine a highly instable aluminate of nicotine, which breaks up almost as soon as formed into the inoffensive substances, carbon dioxide, nitrogen and water vapor.

According to his experiments the smoke loses from 50 to 60 per cent. of its normal toxic contents—on the condition always, which seems to be indispensable, that the tobacco, on leaving the aluminum solution, should be dried at rather high temperature of 70 to 80 degrees Cent. When dried at a lower temperature the destruction of toxic elements by combustion is much less complete.

Parant's method of procedure is very simple. In the case of tobacco it is merely moistened with the proper solution. For cigars it is better to inject the solution by means of a syringe and then dry them at a slight elevated temperature on a porcelain stove or by similar means, in order to eliminate the acetic acid employed to dissolve the aluminum in the catalytic solution.
